

THE STORY OF YOUR BOOKS

Why do you write (generally speaking)?

Why do you write the kind of books you write?

What was the first book in your genre you remember reading?

What's your favorite book in your genre?

What book in your genre do you wish you'd written?

When was your first book published?

Why did you write that book specifically?

How do you feel about that book now?

What's your favorite book that you've written?

What character are you proud to have created?

What emotions do you want people to feel when they read your books?

How is your most recent book different from your first book?

If you had to choose the best point of entry for your catalog what would it be?

If someone were going to read ONLY one of your books which one would you give them?
